Pine Bluff Zebras Defeat Hope, 13-0, for Championship

Scoring Opportunities

HOPE HAS 3 CHANCES

Bobeats Lack Punch at Crucial Moments—Eason
Best for Hope

By LEONARD ELLIS
PINE BLUFF, Ark. — The alert Pine Bluff Zebras took advantage of two scoring opportunities for touchdowns here Thursday afternoon to defeat Hope, 13 to 0, and win the Arkansas High School conference championship in rain and on a slippery field before 5,000 fans.

The Bobeats had three chances to score in the first half—their only three of the ball game—but lacked the punch to reach the payoff. In the middle of the opening quarter, Norman Green blocked Rob Hutson's punt and J. D. Jones recovered on the Zebras 25.

Ellen flipped a pass to Green for 7 yards, and then Ellen went around his right end for a first down on the Zebras 15. Ellen got six more off right tackle, then one over center. On third down, Ellen picked up two. With one yard to go for a first down, Ellen failed and Pine Bluff took over and punted out of danger.

The Bobeats continued to soundly out-play the Zebras in the remaining minutes of the opening quarter in which the Zebras failed to get up to the 50-yard line.

In the second quarter, Hope missing two other opportunities after carrying the ball from the Bobeats 35 to the Pine Bluff 12 where the threat ended when Galloway intercepted Ellen's pass.

Hope's third and final opportunity came a few minutes later after the Bobeats took the ball on their own 35, Baker ripping off three and Eason plunging for a first down on the 45. Eason made three more than then Ellen passed to Green who was downed on the Pine Bluff 35. Ellen flipped another pass which went to Baker who was run out of bounds on the Pine Bluff 16.

Ellen tried four straight passes, three incomplete and the fourth intercepted by Rob Hutson on his 5-yard line.

That was all for Hope.

The First Score

Pine Bluff's first touchdown came about the middle of the second quarter on two plays. The first was a 40-yard pass from Tommy Leftwich to End LaFitte who ran eight more yards and then Rob Hutson punched over on the next play. Hart's attempted placement was wide.

The Zebras' second touchdown came soon after the second half started. Rob Hutson got loose around his left end for 40 yards, the longest run of the game, to the Hope 8-yard line. Leftwich punted for 5 and Hutson 1. Leftwich plunged the remaining two yards for the touchdown and Hart kicked the extra point.

As the third quarter drew to a close, Ellen fumbled on his own 8-yard line and Pine Bluff recovered. The Zebras drove up to the one-yard line and it seemed they would score again but a 15-yard penalty against Pine Bluff set the Zebras back and averted a possible score.

The Zebras, after being outplayed in the first half, reversed the situation in the second half and Hope never had a chance to reach scoring territory again.

The Zebras "bottled up" Ellen throughout the last half. Pine Bluff

50 to 60 Pct. of America's Youth Have Tried Flying

Roger Q. Williams, Transatlantic Flier, Speaks in Hope Friday

FEAR IS BANISHED

Only One Fatality for Every 72 Million Passenger-Miles

Fifty to 60 per cent of America's boys and girls have already flown, Roger Q. Williams, transatlantic flier, told a combined meeting of Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and Hope Chamber of Commerce Friday noon at Hotel Barlow.

Most people who stay on the ground are kept there by fear, Colonel Williams said. But there is actually only one fatality for every 72 million passenger miles, he pointed out.

Williams, whose subject was, "Aviation to the Average Citizen," is touring the United States under the auspices of the Reader's Digest, offering free flights as he goes. He flew here and extended an invitation after the luncheon to local people to fly with him.

Colonel Williams was introduced by Guy E. Bayse, with G. T. Cross of Kiwanis and A. B. Patton of Rotary, the club presidents, presiding over the meeting.

"Most parents see only the spectacular things in aviation, and many of them don't want their children to fly," Colonel Williams said. "But it is the duty of every parent to find out the real facts of aviation, not pay too much attention to what they see in the movies and the newspapers, and so be in a position to intelligently advise their children instead of handicapping them."

Colonel Williams said that as an aviator he looked on flying as an industry in which 1,000 companies in the United States alone are building planes, and which companies employ from one to two million people.

The speaker gave a thrilling account of his transatlantic flight from New York to Rome 10 years ago.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Whether this was Thanksgiving Day or not, it was a great day for the football teams of Tennessee and Texas A and M, parading toward a couple of New York's Day bowls.

Closing their 10-game season undefeated and untied, the Aggies defeated the University of Texas Longhorns 20-0, before a drenched crowd of 40,000.

Tennessee's Volunteers did a similar 19-0 stint against the Kentucky Wildcats to preserve their unscathed upon record and bring them within one game of an undefeated season.

These two offerings stood out above the short football menu served to the celebrating Thanksgiving in accordance with the calendar. Both games measured up to their advance notices as bitterly contested battles.

Even with a game against Auburn left for December 9, the Vols were certain choices for some bowl game—vying against the Texas Aggies for the prize spot in the Rose Bowl probably opposite Southern California.

Russia Winning Back Lost Areas

Reds Seeking to Re-Establish Domination Over
277,148 Square Miles

By the Associated Press
Soviet Russia's invasion of Finland is one more phase in her apparent program to re-establish domination over the 277,148 square miles of territory stripped from her after the World war.

Here is what she lost in the war settlements:

Finland	133,000 square miles
Estonia	16,955 square miles
Latvia	24,400 square miles
Lithuania	36,500 square miles
Poland	49,150 square miles
Bessarabia (to Rumania)	17,143 square miles

Before the Finnish invasion, here is what she regained in the brief span of 90 days:

From Poland, western Ukraine and White Russia, a total of 11,756 square miles; her acquisition of 22,608 square miles more than she lost is explained by the fact that some of the territory formerly belonged to Austria-Hungary. Germany got a strip of once-Russian territory in central Poland including Warsaw.

Mutual assistance pacts with Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia, along with military and naval bases, making the three Baltic states her virtual protectorates.

Conquest of Finland would leave only Bessarabia, and a German-occupied strip in Poland still separated from Russia as she was in 1914.

Finland Forms New Government to Cope With Warring Red Army

HELSINKI, Finland.—(AP)—Finland formed a new government Friday night, dropping leaders who had been assailed by Moscow as Russian armed forces renewed and extended their attack upon Finland.

While the new government was being formed, Russian bombing planes swooped low over the capital and machine-gunned civilians in the streets. Viborg and other cities also were raided.

The Russian attacks extended from Finland's extreme Arctic tip to Finland's extreme southwestern corner where the Red warships opened a blasting onslaught against the strategic port of Hangos, guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Finland.

Finnish defense batteries reported they sent one of the attacking Russian warships to the bottom of the gulf. The new Finnish premier is Risto Ryti, 50-year-old governor of the Bank of Finland. The new foreign minister is Valno Tanner.

Dropped were Premier Aimo Cajander and his foreign minister, Elias Erkkö.

Hundreds of Russian prisoners were reported captured on Akrelian isthmus where the Red army is invading overland.

Finnish reports later Friday night said 16 Russian tanks had been wrecked by gunfire and mines in bitter fighting along Finland's southeastern border.

Helsinki's chief of police said late Friday night that 30 women and children had been killed by Russian bombs dropped in a raid on the capital early Friday afternoon.

KJRKENES, Norway.—(AP)—Russian troops dropped by parachutes from huge bombing planes were reported to have occupied Petsamo, Finland's chief port on the arctic ocean Friday following bombing raids which left the port and another town in flames.

Violent fighting between Finnish and Russian forces was reported.

Refugees said the Russians took the ancient monastery of Petchenga 10 miles south of Petsamo, cutting off Finnish troops north of that point.

Roosevelt Appeal

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked Russia and Finland Friday to pledge before the world that they would refrain from bombing defenseless civilians and undefended cities.

In a message, the president asked both countries to avoid a resort to "inhuman barbarism" of aerial attacks on civilian centers and asked for an "immediate reply."

President Roosevelt declared that Russia's invasion of Finland was a "profound shock" to the United States, and had jeopardized the "rights of mankind to a self government."

In a formal statement read at his press conference, the chief executive said all peace loving peoples would "unanimously condemn this new resort to military force as an abhor of international differences."

Make Room for the Youngsters

About 5,000,000 young men and women between the ages of 16 and 25, who have completed all the schooling they intend to take, are scanning help wanted columns, sitting around employment offices, lounging in corner drug stores, or just lying around home. All of them would be glad to work if there was work to be done. Every year an additional 500,000 young people leave the schools and sharpen the competition for the few available jobs.

The 16,000,000 young folks in this age class who are employed are not entirely happy. According to a recent survey conducted by the American Youth Commission, about 43 per cent have the feeling they're in dead-end jobs. They feel they have neither security nor much chance for promotion.

The figures are depressing enough. But what is even more gloomy is the attitude of young people reflected in a Y. M. C. A. sample poll. In New York City alone, 80 per cent of all persons between the ages of 15 and 34 are no longer sold on the old American idea that ability is enough to insure success. The day of Horatio Alger has been left behind.

The youth commission recently interpreted this condition as a distinct menace to American neutrality in the present European war. To many of the youngsters, anything, even war, would sound better than complete idleness. These young people today are just as energetic, just as anxious to get out and do something as were youngsters not so many years ago when there were enough jobs to go around. Many of them might welcome even the hazard of death under gunfire just as long as they were kept busy and they knew they were useful.

Further schooling is not the answer to this national problem, but about 65 per cent of those polled in New York agreed that extension of vocational guidance facilities would help. Actually, even this plan, while it may be a good idea, can do little more than juggle job applicants around a bit. Vocational direction cannot open new jobs.

Whether we like it or not, the whole thing boils down to a simple mathematical formula with a result that is not too cheering. Industry is rapidly increasing its production, and in many fields output is equalling that of 1929. Payroll indices throughout the nation have generally gained over those of last year. Exceptions noted are largely in clothing and allied industries, and they will come along as soon as the spurt takes definite shape.

Nevertheless, there are still somewhere between 9,000,000 and 10,000,000 persons without jobs. It is estimated the nation's industries at peak will use about 1,000,000 less men than they did in 1929 and to this group must be added the 2,000,000 who were unemployed in 1929 and the 5,000,000 workers who have come upon the scene within the last 10 years.

Conrad D. Young, acting chairman of the youth commission, places responsibility squarely on the government and insists jobs of some kind must be made. Just as important as handing out jobs, however, is rebuilding faith in the old axiom of ability bringing on success.

New Methods Help Doctors to Curb Death Toll Among Pneumonia Patients

(This is the fifth in a series of 14 articles by Dr. Fishbein on the nine principal causes of death in the United States.)

A few years ago, physicians confronted with pneumonia stood in dread because there was so little medicine could do specifically to control this condition. Now there are so many methods and measures that the utmost skill is needed by the doctor to determine just what is to be used and how it should be given.

More than 30 different kinds of pneumococci—the germ that causes pneumonia—have been isolated. The majority of pneumonia cases can be grouped according to a few types. We now have specific serums for each of these types, including horse and rabbit serums. When the pneumonia germ gets into the body, the blood begins building resisting substances. Serums are made by inoculating animals with the germs so the bloods of these animals build up the resisting substances to be injected into the human body when they are needed.

In addition to the serums, however, we now have sulfa-pyridine and sulfanilamide. The former is particularly potent against the pneumonia germ. The studies that have been made so far indicate that sulfa-pyridine, when put into the body of a pneumonia patient, holds the germs in check until the body itself can develop enough of the resisting substances to destroy the germs.

In other words, the drug itself does not destroy the germs. For that reason physicians recognize the importance of giving sulfa-pyridine early and of continuing to give it until the body has developed the necessary resistance.

Unfortunately, sulfa-pyridine itself is a toxic drug and must be given under the most careful controls. The patient must be kept constantly and carefully studied during the time the drug is being given to avoid any dangerous reactions.

Usually when sulfa-pyridine is given in a pneumonia case, the temperature drops almost immediately. The antibodies appear in the fluid material of the blood about the time the crisis would normally occur, and it is these anti-bodies which eliminate the disease.

Of course, the use of oxygen, which permits the blood to continue its function during that period when the lungs are inflamed by pneumonia and when it is difficult to get enough oxygen into the blood, is often a lifesaver. There are also drugs to sustain the heart and to control the digestive processes.

Experts predict that the application of these new methods will reflect a definite drop in the death rate from pneumonia within the next few years.

Third among the great killers of man is cancer. The death rates for cancer and for diseases of the heart are gradually increasing because human beings are living longer.

Cancer and other malignant tumors caused 144,774 deaths in the United States in 1937—about 10 per cent of all deaths. Among persons from 20 to 59 years of age cancer outranks influenza and pneumonia as a cause of death.

We know today that the danger of death from cancer can be reduced by intelligent watchfulness. Everything possible should be done to detect cancer in its earliest stages and to secure the kind of preventive service that will prolong life.

Since cancer attacks many organs about which in the past there has been too much unnecessary modesty, it is well to remember that false modesty may prevent prompt detection of symptoms.

Since cancer is usually a disease attacking people after middle age, make up your mind to have an examination at least once every year after you have passed 30 and tell the doctor about every symptom that might indicate the cancer condition.

Learn more about cancer. It will not hurt you to read about this disease. Throughout the country there are now "cancer clubs" and branches of the American Society for the Control of Cancer which make material available for those who ask for it. Many of the state medical societies and the American Medical Association have material about cancer that they will send on request, and they are willing to answer questions. The state health departments and the United States Public Health Service also provide this service.

Two factors are fundamentally important in the origin of cancer; first, the constitutional tendency within the bodies of certain people to rapid overgrowth of some of the cells; second, chronic irritation.

We have no evidence that cancer is caused by a germ or by a virus. We do know there are certain substances which tend to stimulate rapid growth of the tissues and even to stimulate overgrowth. These are not substances which tend to stimulate rapid growth of the tissues and even to stimulate overgrowth. These are not substances like foods that are taken in the diet.

We know also that the chronic irritation here mentioned may be an irritation from within or outside the body. Therefore it is advisable to be careful of food substances that are especially irritating, fluids that are excessively hot, and the inhalation of gasoline fumes, vaporized oil and tar in the roads.

Fatigued moles on the surface of the body and repeated irritations of the skin, such as may occur in certain occupations, have also been associated with the development of cancer.

NEXT: Prevention and treatment of cancer.

Arkansas Tech Is New State Champ

Wonder Boys Get Tie With Teachers, But Annex College Title

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Tech Wonder Boys held the State Teachers College Bears to a scoreless tie in a slow but steady downpour of rain here Thursday before approximately 4000 fans to announce the state college grid title.

After the first quarter, both teams apparently recognized the futility of scrimmaging plays on a muddy field and the rest of the way it was a punting duel between Tech's newly developed kicker, Aubrey Fowler, freshman from Dumas, and Heath and Hooper.

Fowler not only shone on his punting, but also on his nice returns of punts. The stellar freshman also in the opening minutes of the game, a 22-yard dash in the first quarter.

Teachers missed a chance to score in the opening minutes of the game, when they were thrown for successive losses by the Tech line after advancing to Tech's 13 yard line. The drive started from the Tech 26, where Teachers recovered a Tech fumble. Hager, Teacher right half back and once a star player on the ech team, ripped off 12 yards around his own right end. On the next play Hager picked up a yard on a spinner to reach the thirteen. Heath was then swarmed for a six yard loss to the 19, Harris lost five more and Heath's pass was incomplete, giving Tech possession on down on the 23.

Fowler's 22 yard run came about midway in the opening quarter when he led the Teachers to believe he was going to punt and then tucked the ball under his arm and splashed on the Tech 38 to Teachers' 40, before being brought down.

Tech blocked a Teacher kick in the third quarter, but the Teachers recovered on their 13, and punted out of danger.

In the fourth quarter, Tech, capitalizing on Fowler's punts, and aided by two nice plunges by Co-Captain Beeson, got to the Teacher 23 yard line.

played in Hope territory most of the third and fourth quarters.

Eason Star in Defeat

Captain Joe Eason, fullback, played the best ball for Hope, turning in an outstanding game of a four-year career. He was brilliant on the defense, continually tossing Pine Bluff backs for losses in the mud. Norman Green was also another star in defeat. He was on the receiving end of several passes and played a bang-up defensive game.

The entire Hope line played well, holding the Zebras to four first downs. Pine Bluff's other first down was made through the air.

Total first downs were Pine Bluff five, Hope seven.

The Zebras played without the services of their regular fullback, Meroney, and Raymond Hutson, twin brother of Robert Hutson. The two Zebras ball carriers saw the game from the sidelines because of injuries.

Carrying the brunt of the Zebras attack was Robert Hutson and Tommy Leftwich. Leftwich played a good game at end for Pine Bluff as did Kennedy at center.

Gov. Dickinson Doesn't Like to Be Swapped; Offers to Trade Motor Strikes for Cheese

Wisconsin Republicans Offered This as an Even Trade:

Michigan Governor Made This Counter Proposition:

Get out the marbles and chalk, boys. A swap of governors between Michigan and Wisconsin, but Luren Dickinson of Michigan doesn't want to be swapped, and is more interested in making a deal for Wisconsin cheese.

For a 4800-pound hunk of Wisconsin brick, he announced he would gladly part with all the auto strikes and saloons in his trouble-ridden state of Michigan.

"In fact," said Governor Dickinson, "I would throw in the saloons in any kind of a trade I could get."

It all started when Governor Julius J. Heil of Wisconsin said in a Chicago speech that he just wished HE were governor of Michigan so HE could deal with the auto strike by "strong methods."

Douglas county, Wis., Republicans thought it was a good idea to give him the chance, and offered to trade Governor Heil for Governor Dickinson, and throw in the Milwaukee Athletic Club, of which Heil is a member, for good measure.

It sounded like a good offer, but Governor Dickinson smelled a rat and objected to being swapped.

"You know as well as I do why they made that offer," he said, suspiciously. "I haven't the time to pay much attention to it."

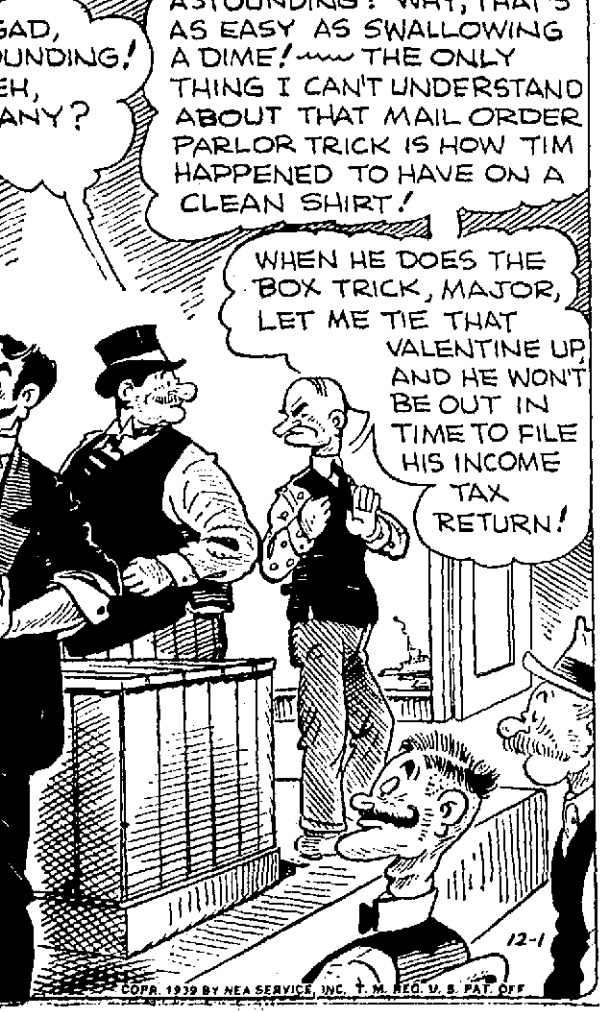

So unless someone pops up with a little stronger bid for the governor of Wisconsin, it looks as if all deals may be off for the present.

Overcrowding in the Campo Santo cemetery in Genoa, Italy, resulted in the erection of rows of marble tombs on the flat roof of its great public mausoleum.

Officials of the legation were unable to say when they would leave for Helsinki, but it was thought possible in some quarters that permission might be refused until the staff of the Soviet consulate in Helsinki reached Moscow. Soviet newspapers gave no details of fighting in the undeclared war in which Russia Friday charged Finland with having taken the initiative.
